Sofia has been back in Valdivia for quite some time, while Ana just returned after living in Paris for several years, doing a PhD. Sofia's trouble is that her kids, raised as perfect vegetarians, are obsessed with the idea of eating meat. Ana's trouble is finding a house that pleases her. While Sofia's professional life doesn't seem to go anywhere, Ana's is just doing great. An unexpected event however will change things drastically, as their father decides to leave their mother. Although both Sofia and Ana are in their 30s, they will again be daughters and sisters, getting lost once more, willingly or not, in the family scandals' labyrinth.
